

Can you help with a study about social media use by people with dementia and older adults?

Do you help people with dementia or older adults to use or manage their social media accounts?

Does someone help you with your social media accounts?

If so, then please give your input on this short survey:

www.francesryanphd.com/survey

This survey is part of a project that investigates how people support older adults and people with dementia to use social media. It is conducted by Edinburgh Napier University and is funded by a Carnegie Trust Research Incentive Grant.